Tap your way to free rides every week

When you pay for 12 individual trips with the same card or device in seven days, any other rides in that seven-day period are free. Your count resets every seven days and restarts with your next tap.

Each card or device counts its rides separately, and they can't be combined, even if they're linked to the same account.

Only one tap per trip counts toward free rides, even if you're paying for others in your group.
