Keep Growing & Learning,

Donovan Richards Jr.
President
Borough of Queens

DEAR FRIENDS,

WELCOME TO MY OFFICE'S YOUTH AND YOUNG ADULTS DIRECTORY!

In the pages to come, you will find over 50 organizations, programs, and entities dedicated to shaping the future of our young people, our communities and our borough. This directory reflects the efforts of groups across the spectrum of society that work tirelessly to delivery equity and opportunity in every corner of Queens. Please use this clearinghouse as a resource to find programming and services around cultural affairs, immigration, after-school activities, job training, education, career development and more.

As someone who got involved in my community in my late teens and was elected to office in my 20s, I know I wouldn't be the Queens Borough President without access to resources in my community that was tailored to my needs. That is something every young person in this borough deserves access to. Because if Queens really is the future like we say it is, our youth need to be empowered to lead us into that future.

That's why I'm proud to have invested more than $121 million into Queens schools as Borough President, as well as $20 million to our colleges and universities. That includes funding for state-of-the-art programming that prepares our kids for the jobs of tomorrow in aviation, robotics, coding, engineering, environmental sustainability, the culinary arts and so much more.

In a county where nearly 15 percent of the population is between 5 and 17 years old, we must leave no stone unturned when it comes to investing in their future. In Queens, we're leading that effort and amplifying young voices, and we will continue to work diligently to ensure that our youth are consistently leading the charge in this evolving world.

I hope you find this directory informative, and I encourage you to connect with as many organizations as you can. They, like us, are here to serve you.
